ADVANCED HEARING AID TECHNOLOGY
For Less Than $200
"I was amazed! Sounds I hadn't heard in years came back to me!"
— Don W., Sherman, TX
How can a hearing aid that costs less than $200 be every bit as good as one that sells for $2,250 or more?
The answer: Although tremendous strides have been made in Advanced Hearing Aid Technology, those cost reductions have not been passed on to you. Until now...
MDHearingAid® uses the same kind of Advanced Hearing Aid Technology incorporated into hearing aids that cost thousands more at a small fraction of the price.
Over 300,000 satisfied MDHearingAid customers agree: High-quality, FDA-registered hearing aids don't have to cost a fortune. The fact is, you don't need to spend thousands for a hearing aid. MDHearingAid is a medical-grade hearing aid offering sophistication and high performance, and works right out of the box with no time-consuming "adjustment" appointments. You can contact a licensed hearing specialist conveniently online or by phone — even after your purchase at no cost. No other company provides such extensive support. Now that you know... why pay more?
MDHearingAid®
DOCTOR DESIGNED | AUDIOLOGIST TESTED | FDA REGISTERED
Can a Hearing Aid Delay or Prevent Alzheimer's and Dementia?
A study by the National Institute on Aging suggests older individuals with hearing loss are significantly more likely to develop Alzheimer's and dementia over time than those who retain their hearing. They suggest that an intervention — such as a hearing aid — could delay or prevent this by improving hearing!
TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OUR
45-DAY RISK-FREE TRIAL!

2018 in Review part 1 - pages 9-11
A time to plan
At its final meeting of the year, the Lake City City Council looked over its work plan for the year and discussed a process for developing a 2019 work plan when the new council convenes in January.
In 2018, the council had a work plan and insisted that city boards and commissions create one as well.
Projects completed from the 2018 plan included adopting a Cemstone site plan, implementing a short-term vacation rental ordinance, completing the city branding initiative, reviewing and accepting a comprehensive plan update, adopting a budgeted shoreline maintenance program, and running sewer and water to the Lake City Sportsman's Club.
City Administrator Rob Keehn told the council the purpose of the update was to give councilmembers an idea of what's been completed, what's in progress, and which items have been pushed out into the future.
"As we move into 2019, I would encourage the council to think short-term tactical, and then long-term strategic, and those longer-term ones are going to span multiple budget years," he said.
One example of a project that spans multiple years is
The council is constrained somewhat financially in its 2019 plans by the budget it approved for 2019.
Council member Phil Gartner wanted to know how items would be prioritized given the size of the list. He said he saw things on the list he'd like to see happen, but he didn't know where they stood.
Keehn said that by establishing target completion dates for work plan items, the council is identifying priorities, which in turn provides direction to city staff.
Council members also discussed following a different process for the next work plan.
Mayor Mark Nichols met with city staff. This year they are looking for broader council input.
Nichols also urged the council to complete the plan in January.
"Last year we didn't get that done until April or May because (city staff) was waiting for us," he said.
The council consensus was to have a workshop with the full council to develop the plan.
Keehn advised councilmembers to begin by looking at the current list to see if their priorities had changed. They can bring any new ideas with them as well.
pointed to another item on that meeting's agenda.
"It's hard to believe that we don't have a memorial policy in a city of our complexity," he said. "Until this council came together we didn't have work plans from department heads. In a sense that was a little bit shocking, but now we have that."
He directed Keehn to reach out to the two incoming city council members, Amy Alkire and Faye Brown, to help them participate in the process.
"I'm really proud of staff for what you've accomplished this year," Nichols said. "If you look at what's completed versus what's pending... I just think that we're getting things done here."
The 2018 Council Work plan from the meeting is reproduced below. Some items have been edited for clarity. Items with an asterisk (*) appeared in a column entitled "2019 Carry Over?" Items marked with (†) were not implemented. People who want to provide input can contact city council members.
