SEND A GIFT SUBSCRIPTION!
Return the order form clipped from below along with $35 or $44 for each gift subscription to the LAKE CITY GRAPHIC. Do it today - avoid the commotion and expense of holiday shopping while sending someone an entire year (52 weeks) of Christmas goodwill & cheer. A print subscription includes free online access.
Here's what we'll do:
· First we'll send a gift announcement in your name, timing the announcement to arrive a day or two before Christmas.
· Then we'll start your announced gift subscription to the Graphic with the Dec. 24 Christmas issue of the paper.
· Of course, we'll do the gift wrapping for you! No need for you to rush around frantically looking for an appropriate gift, no package to wrap, mail, insure or exchange after Christmas.
I have enclosed $35 for a year subscription to the Graphic for anyone living in Wabasha or Goodhue Counties - or - $44 for any recipient living elsewhere in the continental United States (includes military APO addresses) - or - $54 for anyone living in Hawaii or Alaska.

Light a Candle of Love

Since Christmas is a time for remembering, we are lighting a candle in
our funeral homes
for all the families
we have served
this past year.
As you enjoy this Christmas season, we hope this gesture will serve to remind you of holidays past and the importance of family.
May the Quiet Peace of Christmas fill
Your Hearts and Home
Our family will be here to serve you in the years to come.

MY LONG-AWAITED RETIREMENT POEM

By Lani Engelstad

After 30 years of hauling mail,
It's time to hoist the retirement sail.
People ask, "What will you do with all your time?
Well, I sit down, I'll tell you with a bit of rhyme!

When my toes are swollen and my feet are sore,
I won't jam them in my tennies and run out the door.
I'll sit in my recliner with my feet propped up,
And sip my favorite beverage from my favorite cup.

I'll have to do my sit-ups and exercise more;
I'll have to run on my treadmill and strengthen my core.
I'm going to try new recipes, and put them in order,
They're hid in so many places, I feel like a hoarder.

I'll clean my files, and closets, and drawers;
I'll paint some trim and interior doors.
I'll spin some yarn from the wool of my llama;
I won't have to think of all the postal drama.

I'll sew and crochet; do crafts that I've missed;
I'll read those books on my reading list.
I'll spend more time in my kayak and canoe;
I'll try a new river; maybe a few.

I'll bake more bread and play with beads.
Maybe this spring, I'll start some seeds.
I'll sign up for the herbology course I've been waiting to take;
Tun into a witch doctor, for goodness sake.

I'll make herbal cures and handmade lotion,
If the Gods are smiling — a love potion.
I'll do a lot more hiking and riding my bike,
I'll play with my grandkids whenever I like.

I'll catch up to myself after 30 years.
I'll toast my new life with a couple of beers.
I'll miss so many people, without a doubt.
I've enjoyed my time on my daily route.

But the time has come to let it go.
If I get bored, I'll let you know!

LEARN SURVIVAL SKILLS FOR HOLIDAY EATING
U of M Extension Service
By Connie Burns
Health & Nutrition Educator
U of M University Extension

So you've been invited to the neighborhood holiday party, and you're at a loss as to how to survive the buffet table with your health intact. Since holidays revolve around food—and lots of it—let me share some tips.

Avoid coming to the party starved. If you arrive too hungry, you'll eat too fast, choose the less—healthy foods available, and end up stuffed. Try a snack before you go, like a piece of fruit or some crackers to get you by.

Since buffet items come without food labels, you have to make selections based on how the foods look. Spend a minute or two to scope out your selections, keeping the customizable food pyramid, MyPyramid, in mind (www.. choosemyplate.gov/). Then, select the smallest plate available to help keep portions under control.

Divide the salad choices into cream-based and plain. Cream-based usually means more calories, fat and cholesterol, so go easy. Go for the plain salads and relish tray veggies. If a dip or dressing is offered, take and use sparingly.

Look for healthier grain products. This is tricky because, again, there are no food labels to tell you if items have the recommended five or more grams of fiber per serving needed to be considered high fiber. Dark breads and crackers aren't always the healthier, high fiber choices they appear to be. Since it's hard to choose a high fiber grain product by its looks, you may want to stick with lower fat choices, such as pita bread, pretzels and wheat thins. Watch what goes on these grain products, too. Salsa and other vegetable-based toppings are usually good selections.

A handful of nuts, although not low in calories, provides a great source of protein, fiber and heart-healthy fats. Try walnuts, almonds, pecans or peanuts. Keep it to a small handful.

Remember the veggies and fruit. Most of us don't meet the goal of five or more fruits and vegetables every day, so here's your chance to load up. Remember to vary the colors: reds, orange/yellow, greens, whites and blue/purple. The more brilliant the color, the more cancer-fighting phytochemicals you'll receive.

Here's an idea. Remember to use a small plate. Imagine it has a clock face on it. From the noon to 6 o'clock position, fill it with plain fruits and vegetables. At the 6 to 7 o'clock position, add a tablespoon of dip or salsa of your choice. From the 7 to 8 o'clock position, give yourself a small handful of nuts. From 8 to 10 o'clock, pretzels, pita bread or crackers. From 10 o'clock to midnight, a sweet treat. Eat "around the clock," ending with the "midnight" sweets. Chances are, if you start by loading up on the high fiber fruits and veggies, and work clockwise, by the time you get to "midnight," that one cookie will stay at that-just one!
